

THE MONOCAN COURSE
Hole by Hole Description

No. 1 Par 5 Black 570 Blue 545 White 512 Gold 419 Red 419

This gentle dogleg-left, with bunkers on either side of the landing area, normally invites going for the green in two. It's downhill, but the green is fronted by a crossing creek and surrounded by bunkers.

No. 2 Par 4 Black 370 Blue 354 White 324 Gold 256 Red 256

Another dogleg to the left, the fairway is absent of bunkering, the creek runs down the left side and severe mounding covers the right. The raised green complex features a wide, deep bunker across the front.

This dogleg-right requires length and accuracy to split the left fairway bunkers and trees that protect the corner of the fairway on the right. The long, humpy green has bunkers left and right.

No. 4. Par 4 Black 420 Blue 399 White 375 Gold 342 Red 342

Straightaway and downhill from the tee, the landing area is flanked by bunkering left and mounding right. The approach can be daunting to a well-bunkered green complex that tilts toward Lake Monocan on the right.

No. 5 Par 3 Black 171 Blue 161 White 148 Gold 135 Red 111

A gorgeous lakeside setting presents a full carry over the water to a "paw print" green complex with four bunkers and mounding that surround the smallish putting surface. The wind can kick up on the lake, adding to the task.

No. 6 Par 4 Black 373 Blue 364 White 354 Gold 328 Red 304

With the Blue Ridge Mountains providing a beauty of a backdrop, tall timber looks down on a fairway bunker on the far left. Often a short-iron approach, mounding on the left and bunkers on the right leave no room for error.

No. 7 Par 4 Black 414 Blue 390 White 375 Gold 335 Red 335

Straight and narrow off the tee, bunkers line the right of the landing area, with mounding on the left. Often a short-iron approach to a big, rolling green slopes down from back to front, with bunkers bordering each side.

No. 8 Par 3 Black 180 Blue 163 White 150 Gold 150 Red 126

Surrounded by trees and lush vegetation, this hole plays slightly uphill. A creek winds up the entire left side of the hole, beyond the green. Fronted by two pot bunkers, the green is a small target, but only lightly sloped.

No. 9 Par 5 Black 525 Blue 501 White 473 Gold 414 Red 414

Intimidating off the tee, the hole starts through a chute of trees leading to the opening and elbow of this dogleg-right. Relatively flat, mounding lines the fairway to an undulating green that is flanked by several bunkers.
